ats Decline to Take Down Their City Ticket-Washington's Birthday to Be Honored.

NORFOLK, VA., February 17.—(Special.)
The past week has given this section the soldest spell experienced this winter, even the salt-water creeks being frozen at nes Last week the fruit trees were sudding, and the peaches doubtless have been nipped by the frosta. Fortunately, for the suffering poor we have escaped the wretched freezes of last season. As it it, the charitable organizations report the lemands upon them very great just now. The Prohibitionists are being urged to take down their muncipal ticket and unite on a reform ticket for the spring election. There is no evidence yet, however, that the anti-saloonists will consent to this ar-rangement, as they are under the im-pression they can gather the dissatisfied Democrats into their own ranks. REVIVAL.

Another encouraging revival has just commenced at the old Cumberland-Street Methodist Episcopal church, under Rev. Dr. Adam C. Bledsoe, Some thirty conversions have already resulted.

Washington's birthday will be honored by several societies here next Thursday. Norfolk Lodge, B. P. O. It would give the farmer another outlet to markets and enhance the value of lands along its route.

I can't speak for the country between us and Manassas, but 1 believe it is generally fairly good, but certainly there is no section better wooded and watered, or with lands better adapted to agriculture and the raising of stock than this part of Hanover. The soil is susceptible of the highest improvement, as can be shown.

It is an historic fact, it may be said, that the entire route of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac toad lies through one of the most miserably poor strips in Virginia—a strip that has never produced much of anything in perfection except the thoroughbred race-horse.
